Windy City Team Now Within Hailing Distance of Second Place, as the Philadelphias Drop an Eleven-Inning Game at Cincinnati St. Louis Defacts and Passes the Bostons.

The Brooklyns did not have a League champlouship game to play yesterday, but they will begin a hard series in Pittsburg this afternoon which win wind up the Champions' second which will wind up the Champions' second western trip. So far Hanlon's men have done well since leaving home, their record being six victories in ten games. As the Philadelphias were beaten by the Cincinnatis in eleven inpings, the Brooklyns increased their lead to 114 points, which means that they will come back here with a big advantage over all other rivals. Philadelphia's slump and the continued fine playing of the Pittsburgs and Chihave produced a hot race for place. The Chicagos won a second place. lose game from the New York tail-enders yeserday and are now within bailing distance of the Quakers, the latter nine points ahead of the Pittsburgs, who lead the Chicagos by eight points. There's another warm fight on for fifth place between the Cincinnati, St. Louis and Boston teams. Cincinnati holds the place now by a margin of three points over St. Louis, the latter beating and passing the Bostons yesterday. The Hub players are now seven points behind the Missouri team, but are in no danger of dropping lower in the race, as they top the tail-enders by 108 points. The results:

NO DOUBLE UMPIRE SYSTEM.

Decision of the League Magnates Who Cannot Read the Handwriting on the Wall. At last one of the National League magnates has made an official statement regarding the proposition to restore the double umpire system. John T. Brush, President of Romohr's Amateur Status to Be Investigated the Cincinnati club, is quoted as saying that no change will be made and that the single umpire plan will remain in effect during the remainder of the season. Brush gives as an exouse that it is difficult to obtain four additional umpires of recognized ability, though he does not mention reasons why men like McPhec. Pfefer, Dwyer, Gaffney and Lynch are allowed to remain out in the cold. It seems strange that Brush should declare against the double umpire system when Freedman of the New York club is an open advocate of the change, along with his friend Dreyfuss of Pittsburg, but the magnates, it must be remembered, often do strange things.

As a matter of fact the sole reason for the non-existence of the double umpire system is economy. The magnates, with a desire to retrench as much as possible because of the heavy expense incurred by the reduction of the circuit to eight clubs, feel that to increase the umpire staff at the present time would be too costly an item in an already long list of expenses. As most of the club owners believe in rowdyism anyway, they do not see the need of eight umpires instead of four. There would be no demand for double umpires if the League took the kickers in hand. With kicking and ruffanism suppressed, as the club owners can suppress it if they want to, each game would be handled satisfactorily enough by one umpire. The records will show that there was just as much kicking with two umpires last season as there has been this season with each official. ditional umpires of recognized ability, though tion was spread broadcast that President N. E. Young and Inspector of Umpires and Players John B. Day would have absolute power. The other day Doyle of the New Yorks slugged Umpire Emslie in Cincinnati. President Young immediately declared that he would go to Cincinnati, investigate the facts and suspend Doyle if proven guilty. President Young started for Cincinnati all right, but he didn't get very far before he got a tip to turn back. So he didn't get to Cincinnati, didn't investigate anything and didn't suspend Doyle. Where was Inspector of Umpires and Players John B. Day all this time? Mr. Day has never favored rowdy ball playing, but the absolute power with which he was vested in early spring was nothing at all.

Meanwhile the umpires are in a constant state of fear. The players, as the season grows older, intimidate them and are supported by the clubs. The New York club so far has made no announcement of its intention to punish Doyle, a proceeding that would assure the public that the club does not believe in such behavior. The Brocklyn club, too, is not living up to its promises. In the West the champions have been kicking like steers and on Sunday Capt. Kelley and Pitcher Kennedy were expelled from the game at Cincinnati by Umpire Emslie.

The magnates still say they are not in favor of rowdylsm, an old song. The crowds in various cities are dwindling and yet the club owners cannot see the handwriting on the wall. Every bit of kicking could be stopped without further parley if these so-called sportsmen decided to act with firmness and backbone. Some of them dodge behind the statement that President Young and the umpires are incompetent. But they might elect a new President who might choose new umpires, and still there would be disorder as long as the players are not held in check by the men who employ them.

Baseball Managers Should Act as Gentlemen ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 9.-Rdward Barrows manager of the Toronto league baseball team, was to-day fined $25 for assaulting Manager Al Buokenberger of the Rochester team. Barrows was not in court as his team was in Syraouse to-day. Judge John F. Kinney represented him, however. Judge Kinney pleaded guilty in behalf of his client and then asked for mercy, saying that both men were equally at fault. It saying that both men were equally at fault. It was seen that Buckenberger's eye had not resumed its normal color as he got up to reply. Attorney Horace McGuire did the talking for him. He said that the assault had been unprovoked and brutal and that the Court should act in accordance with the gravity of the offence. "Baseball has been called the national game of this country," observed the Police Magistrate. "It is in the power of these men as representatives of the sport to keep its reputation above reproach and free from discredit. They should act as gentlemen. I find the defendant $25."

As soon as the fine had been paid, the papers in a civil action for $5,000 were served on Law-yer Kinney. Barrows has not filed his answer to the complaint.

Minor leagues are finding fault with the dilatory tactics of the National Board of Arbitration in trying cases in dispute. It is pointed out that several important matters have been allowed to drag because of the fact that the members of the board are widely separated. And, by the way, there is an impression among bas-bail men that with the League circuit reduced to eight clubs the board should consist of three members instead of five. As it is at present constituted the board consists of every clubin the League except New York, Brooklyn and Pittsburg.

HEMPSTEAD, July 9.-Westchester defeated Devon in an exciting polo game on the Rockaway Hunting Club's grounds at Cedarburst to-day. The game was the first of the series for the Cedarhurst challenge cups for which nine clubs will contend. The Devons had an advantage of six goals in the handicaps, but even money was all that the Pennsylvanias would offer. It was a hard, up-hill fight for Westchester and only their superior team work pulled them through in the last period. The only weak man on the team was Reynal who was played to keep the handicap within limits. Johnnie Cowdin and the Waterbury boys played their usual dashing game and made victory out of what looked like defeat. McFadden out of what looked like deleat. McFadden made two fouls in the first period which knocked off one goal from Devon's handicap advantage and Cowdin put the ball between the sticks twice making the score 5 to 2 in Devon's favor.

Honors were easy in the second period. Kendrick and Snowden each made two goals for Devon, while "Monte" Waterbury scored two and Cowdin and "Larry" Waterbury one each for Westchester. They lost a quarter goal by a safety play made by Larry Waterbury. Score: Devon 9: Westchester 54.

Kendrick made a goal in the third one minute after it had been put in play and Wheeler needed but forty-five seconds to follow suit. Then the Westchester quartet got to work, and Cowdin made two and L. Waterbury and Reynal one each. Score: Devon, 11: Westchester 94.

The fourth period was easy sailing for the New Yorkers and they piled up six goal in the following order: L. Waterbury and Cowdin. After this Snowden scored one for the Devons, but they could not get the ball between the posts again before time was called. Larry Waterbury made a foul after his first goal, which cost Westchester a half goal. Total score: Westchester 154: Devon, 12. The teams lined up as follows: Swestchester—I, Eugene Reynal, 4; 2. J. A member of the Regatta Committee of the N. A. A. O. stated after the meeting of the committee Sunday, at which the entries for the national regarda were scrutinized, that the entry of J. A. Romohr, the Harlem R. C. sculler, had only been accepted pending investigation. This course was made necessary by the action of the Canadian A. R. A., which refused Romohr's entry for the regards held at Teronto on July 2 and declined to give the Harlem R. C. any reason for doing so. The officials stated, however, that they would submit their objections to the N. A. A. O. at the proper time. The Harlem R. C. cours an inquiry in the matter, and the members are pleased that it will take place before the impartial committee of the N. A. A. O. It is intimated that the action of the Canadians is due to the fealousy and spite of a Toronto rowing club, which tried to secure Romohr as a member and failed.

Local caramen hope that Romohr will be able to clear himself of the charges preferred by the Canadian association. He has made many friends since taking up his residence here, and is considered by good judges to have a chence to lower the colors of C. H. Ten Eyck. Romohr won the senior singles at the national regatta in 1890, and last spring defeated Juvenal, the Philadelphia sculler, at the Passaic regatta. Owing to lack of condition of the Harlem man Juvenal turned the tables on July 4, but local coarsman are a unit in the belief that Romohr will at least defeat Juvenal if allowed to row in the national. had only been accepted pending investigation.

Cutter Race of the Naval Reserves to Be Re-

Cetter Race of the Naval Reserves to Be Re-sailed.

There was a meeting of the Interstate Naval Reserve Regatta Association at the Central National Bank Building, 220 Broadway, yesterday afternoon. The meeting was called to consider the protests of the Second Naval Battalion of Brooklyn against the awarding of the first prize in the interstate championship cutter race on June 10, to the New Jersey sailors. It was proved that the stake boat, the steam yacht Mohican, flagship of the New York State Naval Militta, had teen allowed to drift and that no other boats except the Brooklyn outter had been in a position to get over the line without tacking again from the way they stood for the mark. It was further ascertained that the reason the mark boat was not anchored was owing to the fact that the steamer Richard Peck was coming down the sound very fast and would have run down the Mohican if the flagship had held its course. After the examination of many witnesses it was decided to declare the coatest no race, and to resail the event on July 29, on the Beawanhaka Corinthian Y. C.'s inside course at Oyster Bay. Watercure, Brigadier and Rare Perfume Also

A field of respectable proportions turned out for the first event, a race for maiden three-yearolds and upward at one mile, with Watercure an odds-on favorite over nine opponents. Commander Miller and Cavalcade ruled next in demand and showed that backers were starting the week in rare form as the selected ones came pretty near to finishing as they were played. Watercure was easily the best and he led practically all the way, winning easily by a length from Commander Miller, who beat Harry McCoun a head in a flerce drive. Cavalcade finished fourth.

Newton Bennington's Bellario was a red-hot tip in the second race despite the fact that he has been bottled up since the injury he susained in the spring. He closed at 7 to 5, while The Rhymer and Telamon found supporters at 9 to 2. Meanwhile as good as 8 to 1 was posted against the chances of Arthur Featherstone's Maister, with O'Connor up, until an ali-round plunge on the Autocrat colt cut his odds in two. Malster's only other appearance had been in the June Stakes at Sheephead Bay on June 28 when he finished eighth, behind Holstein, Olympian and Gold Heels. Yesterday he cut loose for keeps, and after running Bellario to a standstill in the first half mile, went on and beat the 20-to-1 shot Janice, two lengths. The favor te went to pieces and wound up eighth.

Brigadier figured to outclass his three opconents in the one-mile-and-a-sixteenth race for three-year-oids and upward and he was heavily played at 9 to 20, while Queen of Song ooked to hold the others safe. Plucky signalized his first appearance as a three-year-old by outrunning Queen of Song in the early stages. Brigadier made his bid on the backstretch and drawing clean away won very easily by three lengths. Queen of Song appeared to have a mortgage on the place in the run home, but Mitchell seemed a great d al more anxious than O'Connor to secure it and he squeezed Plucky through by a head. The more anxious than O'Connor to secure it and he squeezed Plucky through by a head. The time broke the track record of 1:47 for the distance, made a year ago.

Pierre Lorillard's Albula, a racy looking chestnut colt by Worcester—Annisette, followed up his maiden victory of June 30, by a sensational win of the handicap for two-year-olds. Scurry opened favorite, but the Himyar colt Himself, with a pull of nineteen pounds, soon became an equal choice with the topweight. Albula was played down to 3 to 1 and Maher brought off the trick in masterly style. Himself made the running with Scurry in close attendance to the last pole where Albula shot up on the rail and won out in a head finish. It was an even closer call between the other two but the place was awarded to Scurry.

Firearm ran away from Heilobas and Maribert, when the flag fell for the fifth race, with a burst of speed that made the others look like dray horses. The Rayon d'Or gelding had enough, however, before he reached the stand, and Heliobas sprinted to the front in game style, winning by a length and a haif in time world's record made by Voter on the opening day. Despite a heavy plunge on Firearm, Heliobas opened and closed an odds-on favorite, and furnished bettors with ample funds to invest on Rare Perfume. The Underwood horse had the foot of his field from flag-fall and got home by a neck from Bangor, who came along from the rear division in time to beat Lindula half a length for the place. The winner was put up at auction for $600. Frank Tailor promptly bid $1,000 and J. Cooper raised it to $1,200. J. Underwood bid the extra $5 and retained the colt. Summary:

John R. Gentry and Joe Patchen to Meet at Windsor To-morrow.

The leading trotting meetings in the East this week will be at Dover, N. A., in the New England mile track circuit; at Worcester, Mass., in the New England league of half-mile tracks; at Binghamton and Utica in this State, and at Titusville, Pa., in the Lake Erie circuit, In the West the two important meetings of the week will be held at Windsor, Ontario, across the river from Detroit, and at Peoria, Ill. NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

Mrs. Bayne Well on Her Journey of Continnous Century Riding.

Mrs. George Bayne, who wants to excel the national records of both men and women for continuous century riding, and started at 12:01 yesterday morning to perform a thirty-day ride, of 4,500 miles, found the cooler weather so much to her liking that she decided to run ahead of her schedule and do a double century the first day. She started off with S. C. Belcher and Arthur Boyd for company, and at 9:30 yesterday morning finished her first 100 miles. Before starting it was Mrs. Bayne's idea that by taking the full time for four hours, she could keep going for a month easily. This is an idea favored by some, as it would allow of four or six hours' sleep in every twenty-four hours, supposing the two centuries to be ridden in a countries to be ridd centuries to be ridden in a gross time of eighteen or twenty hours. It is believed by those who advocate this that it does not pay in record road riding to go without sleep as long as pos-sible. The temptation to get as far ahead of schedule as possible while feeling strong is too much for most of the enthusiasts, however, and it is apt to prove too great for Mrs. Bayne. The record for continuous riding is thirty-nine centuries, by John M. Nobre of Bayne. The record for continuous riding is thirty-nine centuries, by John M. Nobre of Philadelphia. Mrs. Bayne said to a reporter of The Sun vesterday:

"What I want to do is to beat the records of both men and women and hold the C. R. C. best record. I do not care for fast time for a certain distance and the reputation of having done better than any other woman. That would not be a real record, but only a 'woman's record. Brown's 2,000 miles is a world's record, but the rides in which some women have half killed forty-five centuries in thirty days I will have a world's record.

After completing her 480th mile soon after 4 o'clock yesterday Mrs. Bayne said that she found the roads fine but the wind annoying, and that she felt all right except that her toe clips were hurting her feet. She started out again with Will Brown, Gus Egioff and Mrs. Jane Lindsay pacing her. She completed her second century about 8 o'clock last night. Mrs. Lindsay is riding in preparation for an attempt to beat the 1,000 miles of Miss Post, which she will set out to do on next Monday. Miss Gast, who was one of those at the Valley Stream head quarters of the C. R. C. yesterday, said that she could beat the 2,000-mile ride of Will brown and was willing to wager $100 with any one that she could perform the feat and would post the money to-morrow and start next Monday.

There is a new name for an automobile that is broken down on the road. It was developed yeaterday in the following conversation overheard by a reporter of The Sun between a wheelman travelling west and an automobilist going east, who met him at a hotel where both had stopped. The autoist spoke first: "Did you pass an automobile as you were coming along?"

"Yes, I guess I saw what you mean—a machine just like yours, but when I saw it it was an immobile."

The Superior Court of Cook county, Ill., has a knotty cycling problem to solve. It is: "What kind of a wabble is characteristic of a beginner and what kind indicates intoxication of the rider?" William Daley, a hard-ware merchant of Evanston, has been sued for damages on an allegation that he circulated reports to the effect that he had seen S. R. Peeney. Superintendent of the Waterworks, riding a wheel while "under the influence." Peeney says that he wabbled because he is a beginner and had not yet learned to govern his wheel. Mariborough College Men Roll Up a Good Score Against the Americans.

BOROUGH, England, July 9. - The Ma borough College eleven acted as the hosts of the visiting American cricketers from Haverford College here to-day. The Haverfordians again proved unlucky in the toss for choice of innings, for a splendid wicket had been prepared for the game and the home players gained a decided advantage by batting first upon it. From the manner in which they started the run getting it looked as though a tremendous
